

You're Invited

Look inside for a special offer from Petals from the Basket!

A Little Background Information

*Petals from the Basket:
Devotional Thoughts for Women*
contains fifty-two devotionals that originally appeared as blog posts at PetalsfromtheBasket.com.

Each devotional contains a few brief thoughts and/or a Scripture verse or passage to meditate on and apply throughout the day.

Several blank lines follow each devotional so that you can journal your thoughts or write a prayer for the day.

WHO I AM

I was reading a short devotional this morning as part of my God-and-I Time, and the final phrase stuck out to me: “May who I am glorify You!” It wouldn’t leave my mind, and it has, in these few short hours, become the prayer of my heart. “May who I am glorify You.” Not who I was or who I wish I were or who I plan to be—but who I am.

Each day, each thought, each action—who I am. Not when I’m retired, when I’m financially settled, or when I’m married—who I am. When I’m famous, when I have time, when I achieve a desired status? No—who I am. When I’m thinner, when I’m able to control my desires, when I’m able to live a disciplined life? Again: no—who I am.

Lord, hear and help me to live out the sincerity behind this prayer: “May who I am glorify You.”

This post first appeared on PetalsfromtheBasket.com on November 24, 2014.

And the response has been:

- “I planned to read one devotional each day, but once I started reading it, I couldn’t put it down!” ~Pennsylvania
- “After I finished reading the new devotional book, I bought one for each of the women on my Christmas list!” ~Michigan
- “Love it! I felt like you and I were talking over coffee!” ~California
- “I like the fact that some are long and some are short. They are just right for me to read before I go to work each morning. Thank you!” ~New Jersey
- “It’s like God knew exactly what I needed on the day that I needed it. You might think the devotionals are in ‘random order,’ but they’re not! I’m reading one every morning. When is the next one coming out? You keep writing; I’ll keep reading!” ~Indiana

Your response mattered, and I listened!

Petals from the Basket
(Book 2)
Devotional Thoughts for Women

will be released on March 14, 2015!

BUT...

There are still several blank pages,
and I need your help selecting the five final devotionals to be included!

Between noon EST on Saturday, February 21, 2015, and 11:59 p.m. (EST) on Saturday, February 28, 2015, you may nominate up to three blog posts from the Petals from the Basket blog to be included in the newest book of devotionals.

Here's what's in it for you!

Yes, there really is a special offer for you from Petals from the Basket!

If one of your entries is selected for the new devotional book...

- ❖ Your name will be listed on the Acknowledgments page as having selected one of the devotionals for publication!
- ❖ You will receive a FREE copy of Petals from the Basket (Book 2): Devotional Thoughts for Women! It will be mailed directly to your home on the day it is released!
- ❖ You will receive a SURPRISE bonus prize!

And here's how to do it!

It's as easy as 1-2-3!

Follow these three simple steps to nominate your favorite blog post(s).

Go to www.PetalsfromtheBasket.com and locate the exact titles for up to three of your favorite blog posts. (You can use the “search” feature to look for a word or words related to the blog post content.)

Click the link below to access the nomination form.

Nomination Form

Complete the nomination form by entering up to three of your favorite blog posts from Petals from the Basket.

Submit the form by 11:59 p.m. (EST), Saturday, February 28, 2015.

Coming March 14, 2015!

Will your name be in it?

Please visit PetalsfromtheBasket.com!

© 2015 Brenda Strohbehn, PetalsfromtheBasket.com, and Petals from the Basket

Background photo and book cover photos: Ken Kistler, via Shutterstock.com

Though sharing this e-Booklet is encouraged, no portion of this material may be copied, distributed, sold, or reproduced in any format.

All terms and conditions are stated on the nomination form and must be agreed to and accepted prior to entry submission.